

Background

The Witmer Group is a prominent specialty contractor based in Mount Joy, Pennsylvania. Established in 1967, the company has since grown into a significant contributor to the construction industry.

In its early years, The Witmer Group focused on providing residential and commercial construction services to customers in the Lancaster County area. However, as the company grew, it diversified its service offerings to include industrial, institutional, and healthcare commercial construction services. These services encompass masonry, masonry restoration, waterproofing, caulking, air/vapor barriers, and concrete floor coatings.

Today, The Witmer Group has gained recognition as a dependable and trustworthy specialty contractor throughout Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, and Virginia.

Mission & Goals

The Witmer Group recognizes the importance of fostering a positive work environment that encourages growth and development. Our Services

MASONRY RESTORATION

The Witmer Group is committed to preserving the historical and architectural integrity of buildings. We offer a broad range of restoration services including masonry restoration, historical preservation, structural rehabilitation, concrete repairs, maintenance, and investigative services. Our specialty is returning old masonry buildings to their original splendor. The Witmer Group has highly skilled and certified restoration experts with essential knowledge and the most effective restoration strategies.

INVESTIGATIVE SERVICES

Your building's first line of defense against environmental elements is the building envelope. Damage, which can range from minor to severe, can result from issues such as water infiltration, temperature variation, freeze-thaw cycles, acid rain, and ultraviolet radiation. The Witmer Group's investigative services help to preserve the exterior of your building and prevent future problems. We will provide a detailed condition assessment of the building, a plan of action for required repair procedures, and a long-term maintenance plan.

SEALANTS

Sealants play an important role in protecting your investment from the damage of water and moisture infiltration. Sealant life expectancy typically varies from 5 to 10 years, while some may require repairs after only a few years. Whether you are constructing a new building or have an existing one to maintain, our certified professionals deliver the precise services you need to help you in the long term.

CONCRETE COATINGS

High-Performance Coatings and Resurfacers. The foundation of our expertise and craftsmanship lies in our understanding of the substrates for concrete floors as key to extending the life of a floor that supports smooth operations and productivity. Our capabilities go beyond the building's floors with versatile chemical polymer products that address challenges inside of the building. Witmer Coatings offers a variety of floor coating, and resurfacing, including urethanes, epoxy resurfacers, and chemical-resistant coatings.

INDUSTRIAL CONCRETE FLOOR REPAIR

Bringing a concrete floor back to its original state is critical to the safety and productivity of your facility. Not addressing deterioration issues can potentially cost lost time and efficiency. The Witmer Group investigates to help determine the causes of deterioration and will recommend only the most appropriate materials to make repairs. We follow through with the techniques necessary to achieve the most durable floor.

WATERPROOFING AND AIR VAPOR BARRIER

Witmer Waterproofing is a full-service waterproofing, air/ vapor barrier, and caulking contractor for commercial, institutional, and industrial properties. We often work on complex commercial projects with unpredictable schedules, changes, and challenges. We are trained and certified by many of the leading waterproofing product manufacturers.

NEW MASONRY

Witmer Masonry is the premier contractor for large commercial, educational, and private masonry projects in PA, MD, DE, NJ, DC, VA. We solve complex masonry challenges and specialize in intricate masonry design requiring superior craftsmanship. We have partnered with leading architects, engineers, and contractors to build some of the most notable projects throughout the region.
